WATER BOARD APPROPRIATION BILL PASSED

Council Also Pay Capt. Marden Despite Opinion of Solicitor-- Other Business.

The Mayor and Council held a long meeting on Thursday evening and transacted very little business, the time being taken up in discussing the merits and legality of the claim of F. E. H. Marden, the ex-captain of the police, for injuries received while in performance of his duty. This bill had been passed once, but had been held up owing to mistakes and at the advice of the City Solicitor, who gave his opinion that it was not legal. The bill was finally passed corrected, and the Water appropriation bill after a long discussion passed.

The Council were called to order at 8.30 with Councilmen Clark, Whitehouse and Parsons absent.

Mayor Badger appointed Councilmen Parsons, Holmes and Herrick as a committee on the Ellery Drill exemption case.

He also appointed John Cornelius as Examiners of Plumbers.

Petitions.

The petition of Josiah Adams for a sewer on Gates street was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Clement Waterhouse was granted permission to connect his property on Lockingham street with the sewer.

MIS-MATED KITTERY COUPLES SEEK DIVORCE

Cases Will be Heard at May term of Court

Two Kittery men have brought actions for divorces from their wives, and it is expected that the cases will come up at the May term of the supreme court to be held at Alfred. In one case, James K. Boardman alleges cruel and abusive treatment against his wife, May E. Boardman, while in the second case, Roscoe E. Hanscom alleges desertion against his wife, Georgia E. Hanscom.

Mr. Boardman was united in marriage to Mrs. Boardman in Portsmouth, N. H., October 26, 1911, by William E. Pierce, a justice of the peace, and they lived together as man and wife in Kittery and Elliot, until about April 14, 1910. Mr. Boardman alleges that she has been guilty of extremely cruelty, and cruel and abusive treatment. He also charges her with a statutory crime, and states that at the January term of the supreme court held at Saco, this year, she was indicted for various offenses, and has since left Kittery for parts unknown.

In the case of Roscoe E. Hanscom the latter claims he was married to Georgia E. Hanscom in Portsmouth, N. H., February 17, 1893, by Rev. Otis Cole. The couple lived together as man and wife up to May 31, 1902, when Mr. Hanscom alleges, his wife deserted him without any cause.

WHERE ROOSEVELT STOOD ON THE RECIPROCITY QUESTION

Senator Gallinger Replies to the Statement Made by Piper of Stratham.

To the Farmers of New Hampshire: I observe that Mr. James C. Piper, of Stratham, a well known farmer and member of the 1911 legislature, has addressed a letter to his "Brother Farmers of New Hampshire in which he charges President Taft with having done everything he could to bring ruin to the agricultural interests of our State by negotiating a reciprocity treaty with Canada. Mr. Piper concludes his letter in these words: Let us work together in the interests of the farmer and the laboring man. Let us nominate Theodore Roosevelt."

I beg to call Mr. Piper's attention to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt was quite as earnest in the advocacy of reciprocity with Canada as was President Taft. I made the best possible fight I could against reciprocity, and it is a fact well known in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt and his friends turned the tide in favor of the Treaty. That being the case, what justice is there in condemning the President and applauding Mr. Roosevelt in connection with that movement?

As an illustration of the attitude of Col. Roosevelt on the subject of reciprocity, I beg to quote an extract from the Grand Rapids (Michigan) Herald of February 12, 1911, on which occasion Col. Roosevelt said:

Here, friends in Michigan, right on the northern frontier, I have the peculiar right to say a word of congratulation to you and to all of us upon the likelihood that we shall

MAINE OFFICIAL CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Ex-State Treasurer Gilmore Accused in 15 Counts

Augusta, Me., April 11.—Pascal Pearl Gilmore of Buckport, former state treasurer and one of the most widely known men in Maine, was indicted today by the Kennebec county grand jury on a charge of embezzling state funds to the amount of $10,575 during his tenure of office.

There were 10 counts alleging the misappropriation of sums varying from $300 to $2250 between Feb. 19, 1909, and March 31, 1910. In all instances save one it is alleged that personal checks were deposited in the bank and state checks for an equal amount drawn by Gilmore and used in his personal business. The one exception was when a note was deposited in the bank instead of a personal check.

The reporting of the indictment caused a great stir in this state, for, besides serving as state treasurer, Gilmore has been in the state Senate and House and he was liquor commissioner under the administration of former Gov. Burleigh. He is president of the Buckport National Bank and of the Maine Insurance Company. He is also prominently connected with the Scottish Rite of Masons and the G. A. R.

The transactions upon which the indictment is based were made public last February, when the special joint legislative investigating committee was probing the treasury department of the state. It was stated then that the irregularly in Gilmore's department amounted to $5000.

BREAK BEAM ON TENDER DROPPED ON RAILS

Serious Accident Narrowly Averted This Morning

That a serious accident was averted in the railroad yard this morning was due to the slow speed of the 8:19 a. m. passenger train from the North to Boston. The train had proceeded but a short way of the depot when the engineer found that it was hauling rather hard. It moved along slowly to a point near the end of the platform and then came to a stop. The train crew thought the airbrakes were working but on investigating found that a brake beam on the truck of the tender had dropped completely down on the rails and was all mixed up under the wheels. Had the train been making any speed at the time nothing could prevent the train piling up in a heap. Repair were made and the train left about twenty minutes late.

ABRAHAM HILL SAYS WE SHOULD TRY FOR INDIA TRADE

Portsmouth Should Lift Herself After Sleeping Fifty Years

About one year ago I wrote an article on what I thought Portsmouth might do in establishing a business direct between here and China and India, if some one would go there and investigate conditions and see what kind of manufactured goods were likely to have a market there, and I also said I thought farm machinery would be likely to be more in demand than anything else. About three days ago I received a pamphlet from a missionary who has been in Southern India about thirty-two years and he is a man who is competent to see the conditions and judge of the tendency of conditions. In the pamphlet is a statement of how circumstances are changing there and speaks especially of how, within a few years, they are catching western ideas and doing as we are doing here and are adapting our way of farming and have begun to get western tools. It does seem to me that not only the United States ought to have an enormous trade there, but this little city should be the place to manufacture and ship direct to India and also China.

Nearly one half the population of the earth just beginning to open their eyes to the advantage of modern appliances for making life a little further above the mere animal. I doubt if anyone in this country realizes the change going on in those countries and the opportunities afforded for enterprise to profit thereby. It is certain Portsmouth does not. I doubt if there is a place in the entire United States more favorably situated to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity than Portsmouth. It seems to me that all that is wanted is to have men of enterprise and ability who could grasp the situation to take hold of it and organize a company to manufacture such articles as are likely to be in greatest demand. (I have little doubt but it would at first be farm machinery) and either start a new factory or get some one of the large manufacturers to come here and establish a plant. Our location could not be better, our harbor cannot be beaten. And I doubt if in New England, at any rate, a place where food could be more cheaply raised for the whole region is capable of being made a garden and I do not believe there is in the world a more healthful place or climate. We also have buildings which could easily be made into suitable places to manufacture largely. These immense buildings which have cost so much to manufacture paper now rotting down and how I should rejoice to have machinery rattling in those great brick buildings busy turning out something which would be a blessing and not a curse to the world. It is coming. I may not see it except as I may look down upon it from above. (I mean to go up and not down when I leave this world).

It seems to me here is an opportunity for Portsmouth to lift herself out of this terrible sleep which she has been sleeping for fifty years. Such an opportunity as she never will have again. Just now it seems to be the fad to advertise, but it does not pay the merchant to advertise if he has no goods to show when the customer comes. And it will do Portsmouth no good to advertise herself if she cannot show the customer that she has confidence enough in herself to do some thing for herself. If she puts instead of at home, others are not her money into something outside likely to come here and invest their money. If I have an enterprise in which I want to get one to invest and have money of my own and do not put that in no one else is likely to take my advice and put his money where I am unafraid to put mine. A man who has inherited money and just puts it in a safe place and lives on the interest and does nothing is not worth as much to the world or contributes as much to the welfare of mankind as an ox, horse or cow, for they contribute something to the wealth and comfort of mankind, but the man does not, his money would do just as much for the world without him.

The canal will be open soon so we shall have a short cut to China which will open up opportunities to furnish food seven times the population of this country with "yankee notions." The last fifty years has opened up opportunities more than the world has ever seen before in five hundred years, but the last fifty has seen but the compared to what is to be seen during the next fifty years, I think. The article I referred to says "labor costs now about fifty per cent more than a few years ago and the people are building better houses. Just see what this all means for seven hundred million of people, in both these countries, rising up and putting themselves in condition to live as expensively as we do, which is likely to be the case. Largely the supplies for years to come to enable them to come up have got to be had from other countries. No doubt the trade with this country will be enormous but is that any good reason why Portsmouth should not get a share of it? I wish I had a trumpet as loud as Gabriel's which I could blow, there would not be much more sleeping in Portsmouth until something was done I love my old native state and that is why I want her to prosper.

I shall write in a few days to India and get more facts about the conditions there, from a very intelligent native, which I hope to give the people through the Herald within two or three months. He is very wealthy and owns several large estates, which he cultivates, besides he has held a very high position under the government. It is doubtful if there is a man in Southern India better qualified to give the conditions than he. Meanwhile, let everyone who has any interest in the prosperity of Portsmouth get all the information they can and

Comiskey Thinks He Has Classy First Sacker in Jacques Fournier

Chicago, April 12.—Charles Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league club says he has a second Larry Lajoie in Jacques Fournier, the French Canadian, who has been holding down first base for the White Sox during the spring training trip he pounded the leather with surprising skill and played a brilliant game at the sack. Manager Callahan thinks he has a real find. Fournier was born in a lumber camp twenty-one years ago, is a six footer and weighs 190 pounds. In 1905, Fournier played in Portland, Ore. Then he went to Sacramento, and last year he started with the Moose Jaw team in the Western Canadian league. Ted Sullivan, the veteran scout, saw him in a game at Galesburg last summer and recommended him to the Boston Red Sox. Comiskey took him from Boston last winter by the waiver route and is now congratulating himself. But the big French Canadian has a hard task before him.

mission to erect a wooden garage at his place on State street, the Engineers having given their approval.

Marden's Bill Paid.

The bill of Ex-Captain F. E. H. Marden for time lost while injured while on duty, was returned by the Auditor with a number of documents, one from the Police Commission with the statement that he was never appointed Captain, and a lengthy opinion of the City Solicitor that the claim was illegal as the statute provides that the police shall not be paid except when actually on duty. The case then resolved itself into a question of legality or justice and the Mayor and every member of the Council favored justice and after the corrections were made that were noted by the Auditor it was passed, the Council assuming all responsibilities for the legality of the bill.

Paid for a Barrel of Flour.

Councilman Herrick reported on the claim of Clarence Tilley for the loss of a barrel of flour from the Bennett street sewer backing into his kitchen and it was ordered paid.

Water Appropriation.

The Water Department Appropriation bill left over from the last meeting, was brought up and after considerable discussion it was passed. The question of the sinking and along with sundry estimates of the needs of the department were set for another time.

The bill as passed was:

His father said that he left for school at nine o'clock and had not been seen since. He attends the Whipple school and he did not appear at the usual hour. ## NEW FACTS ABOUT ECZEMA

For years eczema was thought to be incurable, and it is so considered today by many people. But since the compounding of Cadum, eczema is now a curable disease. Cadum has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from distressing, stubborn and disfiguring skin diseases. It is soothing and healing to an inflamed, irritated or diseased skin. It stops the itching at once, and begins healing with the first application. It is antiseptic, and when applied to an open sore or wound prevents infection from disease germs. Cadum quickly acts upon eczema, pimples, sores, blotches, ulcers, eruptions, rashes, rough skin, chafings, itching piles, etc. At all druggists, 10c & 25c.

The other picture shows a big four level that was later washed away.

ABOUT SAVING.

"The hardest thing about saving is the start," says a savings institution in advertising its advantages, and this is true, as all who have made the start will testify. Everybody must save if he would thrive, and those who begin early have better assurance of a competency. We all, big and little, spend money unnecessarily and not to the benefit of health or more than momentary pleasure, which, if saved, would little afford a nice nest-egg against the proverbial rainy day. The attitude of youth toward the future is one of sublime confidence. The years seem long and the opportunities unlimited. It appears that there is plenty of time to begin saving later in life. But somehow the years slip by and to many people never make the start. There comes a time of reckoning when the mature man realizes what a boon it would have been had he begun to save in the rosy days of youth. Saving accounts nowadays are open to all. It is a universal opportunity to make money by the elemental process of not spending it. The savings account is a strict business proposition and the sooner the young man learns this the better it will be for him. It is a form of insurance that he can not afford to be without, and it is a form of investment that pays well in interest. The savings account is a barometer of self-respect. As the account grows there is a reflection of it in the character and bearing of its owner. A bank account, honestly acquired, has more than a money value, for it gives a man stability and confidence in the battle of life. The bank account asks no favors, it demands no sacrifices and in time of trouble it is ever at hand.—Portland Express.

A novel method of campaigning is to be introduced by speaker Champ Clark, one of the Democratic aspirants for the presidential nomination. To carry out the plan speaker Clark was photographed recently by moving picture men on the floor of the house of the chamber before the house was called to order. Mr. Clark entered the chamber at 10:30 walked down the aisle, and then proceeded to mount the rostrum. He started himself and then went through the ceremony incident to the regular call to order while the operators sent their films whirling through the machines. Besides Mr. Clark, the official stenographers of the House, the personal employees of the speaker, his son, Bennett Clark, and scenes around the building also were taken. The pictures will be ready for distribution in about two weeks. At that time it is estimated that there will be enough films finished to furnish them to 7500 moving picture theatres throughout the country. In addition to the moving pictures taken of the speaker, several of his speeches were recorded in a talking machine and these also will be sent broadcast over the entire country. As Mr. Clark's duties prevent him from going much traveling, it was believed that something that would bring him into a closer touch with the voters would be beneficial, and accordingly the moving picture and photograph plan was adopted.

A New York commercial traveler for a large woolen house, who has just completed a few weeks' trip through the central West and Northwest, says: "I have never known so little concern about the presidential campaign as I found among business people. Their primary thought is to get ahead with business, after several years of holding back. Last December, when I went over the same territory, the country could have been carried without the shadow of a doubt for Roosevelt.

But now he has lost his grip. His Columbus speech and his announcing himself as a candidate have totally killed his chances."

The Manchester Union says: The complete answer to the false charges of Allen Hollis and other Roosevelt spellbinders, that New Hampshire papers will not give their meetings publicity, is that the very papers criticised continue to report those meetings just as they would if they said something worth printing. Having hired a hall and invited the public, it is only fair for the papers to give the information of what they offered, even though a very few hundred of a city's population of more than 50,000 attend.

Shortly after Representative Madison of Kansas, who weighs near 300 pounds, had been appointed to serve on the Hardwick Sugar investigating committee he was asked by a friend why he took such an interest in the sugar situation. "Why?" exclaimed Mr. Madison, "why for the best reason in the world; I am probably the largest individual consumer in the country."

A London cable to the New York Sun quotes Mr. Harlshorn, a well known labor leader as saying labor movement on unprecedented scale is being prepared before which coal miners' strike would pale into insignificance. It would include, he said, a demand for eight hours and a national minimum wage for railway men, other transport men, and finers.

It is said that Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh will recommend to Congress that paper money be reduced in size and every denomination made uniform in design. It is contemplated to make all notes 6 by 12 inches, a reduction of one-third. Mr. MacVeagh estimates that the change would result in a saving of more than $600,000 annually.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

Roosevelt's Game of Cards. Col. Roosevelt would have President Taft sit down with him as it were, to a game of cards. Nor would he have the President pick up the cards which the history of the last few years has dealt to him, but the imaginary cards of the colonel's invention. In effect, the colonel says to the President: "The two, three, four and five spots are yours. The ace, king, queen and knave are mine. Now let us proceed to play. Will every one kindly watch me beat you."

In other words, he says all the bad things in the country are the President's—special privileges, Lorimer, and Wall street in so far as it represents malefactors of great wealth, while for himself he retains Abraham Lincoln, the plain people, and, for specific virtues, a desire that women and children should not work unduly long in factories. This is not an exaggeration of his speech last Saturday.

He will let no one have any of his big cards. Senator La Follette thought that he had a claim to some of them, but the colonel does not even admit him as a partner. He never says: "There is a great cause for which you and I have enlisted together." He always sees himself as the only warrior capable of battling with the wickedness of our time.

As for the Democrats who are also preparing to fight for the right as they see it, he seems hardly to know of their existence. Gov Wilson's championship of the initiative, referendum and recall never apparently even reached the colonel's ears. Representative Underwood's fight against the protective tariff never impels the colonel to cry out: "There is the really effective way to attack special privileges." He never takes off his hat to Mr. Bryan with an appreciative word for having shown him the way to aggressive heresy. Not at all. The colonel's speeches boil down to this: "I am a virtue personified. He who does not believe in me does not believe in virtue. Ergo he should be an outcast."

Until the colonel announced his candidacy Wall street was almost a unit against Taft. Note the tone of the leading financial journals last summer and autumn, when Wickersham was called a "wicked shame" and other opprobrious names. "Worse than Roosevelt" was the street's common description of the President. But now the colonel will have it that the President and the moneyed interests are in league. Furthermore, if he says so, who can doubt it, though, as he insists on the cards which the President is to play, he has only to look over his shoulders to find just behind him as his principal supporters Messrs. Perkins of the Steel trust McCormick of the Harvester trust.

All the while the President says nothing. He is not bound to pick up the cards which the colonel says must be his in the game. He might reply: "You take the vices and let me have the virtues. Or, better still let us discard these generalities and discuss the real issues now before the American people.—Boston Herald

OLD HOMES ARE GOING FAST

"Before the War" Mansions of the South, With Their Romance, Are Disappearing.

The grand old "before the war" homes, steeped in romance and dear to the heart of the children of the old south, are fast going. Set in a grove of oaks, the big house with its imposing columns, ample verandas and its air of hospitality and cheer, soon will be no more. Some of these old mansions have fallen into wreck and ruin; hundreds have been burned. The surviving ones are relics of an age that is past.

For several years there has been a movement in the south for smaller farms. This movement has been constantly accelerated. And it means much for the welfare of this section. The old plantations were manageable only when labor could be relied upon—and when one person was willing to pass his life in the employment of another.

The south is becoming more utilitarian. Descendants of those cavaliers who charged with Rupert and melted their plate to support the tottering throne of an unworthy Stuart have scanned their lessons well. Life is activity, hurry and turmoil. It still would be an idyllic existence forever to loiter in the shade and yell to Pompey for another julep—but it is no longer practicable.

This month will see two of the fine old plantation homes of Barbour county go under the hammer. Historic Roseland and the splendid Pugh estate alike are to be sold. Some of these days when the south gets enormously wealthy again the grand old times may be revived.—Birmingham

GAS, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION GOES

Makes Your Disordered Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Bloating, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in Stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will direct all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can surely get relief within five minutes.

Refreshments were served at the club house of ices, cake and coffee. During the evening Philbrick's orchestra gave a concert program and Miss Mae Hawthorne rendered two excellent selections, and later sang at Peirce hall.

Dancing at Peirce Hall.

At ten o'clock the gathering was adjourned to Peirce hall, the ladies being taken over in automobiles, Mr. Albert Hislop having six or eight big cars making continuous trips.

USING X-RAY ON PRINCESS

Suspensions of British Museum's Officials Regarding Egyptian Mummy Are Allayed.

A distinguished scientist attached to one of the government bureaus at Washington suggests that there may be such a thing as using the X-rays too much and too often, especially, he contends, when the rays are made the medium to pry into the antecedents of a young woman of royal lineage, resting for the moment under unjust suspicions.

Every one knows that spurious mummies have been planned off upon the public. Recently a doubt arose in a London museum as to the validity of one daughter of the Pharaohs in the collection. It occurred to the museum officials that, in view of the general hollowiness of life, the young woman in question might have been manufactured in some up-to-date town. So the officials at once turned the Roentgen rays upon her, with the result that they immediately perceived through her many-folded wraps the anatomy which the Egyptians placed upon the bosoms of their dead. So the suspicions of the museum officials were allayed. One of them remarked: "It does seem a little hard that after the lapse of several thousands of years a lady should be suspected of imposture."

An Early Insurance Scheme.

A very early scheme of insurance for the laborer took head of the woman worker. In 1786 the leap of the poor rates gave birth to the proposal of a "Universal Benefit Society." Mr. Hackwood summarizes the scheme in his "Good Old Times." "Every laborer between the ages of twenty and thirty years," he notes, "earning 10d a day should contribute to a national fund 2d a week, and every woman earning 23 a year 1d a week, and when sick or disabled should receive benefit at the rate of 4s a week, with 1s a week added for each child. There were, of course, many other details, but the chief interest lies in the fact that this was perhaps the earliest proposal for the national insurance of the laborer against invalidity."

Will Try to Outlive All Others.

The oldest member of Parliament in the world, the Hungarian deputy, M. Joseph Madarasz, who is now in his ninety-ninth year, issues a denial of the statement that he is about to retire into private life. M. Madarasz says that he means to retain his mandate till he has completed his one hundredth year, if not longer. He carries a list of all the centenarians in the world constantly with him, and marks them off as they die. He is determined to outlive them all, and some day to have the distinction of being the oldest man in the world.

DENIES RUMOR OF DEATH OF POPE PIUS

Sent Out by News Agency in Madrid
--Pope Well and Gave Usual Audiences.

Rome, April 11.—4.27 p. m. (10.35 a. m. Boston time).—There is no truth in the report circulating throughout the world, based on a telegram from Madrid, that the Pope is dead.

Paris, April 11.—The Havas News Agency, at 4 this afternoon, received a long distance telephone message from Rome, saying that the rumor from Madrid of the death of the Pope is untrue.

Continues His Daily Audiences. Rome, April 11.—The Pope continues his daily audiences. He received today Cardinal Della Volpe, Prince Borghese, Senor de Estrada, the Argentine minister at the Vatican, and his family, and Count and Countess Jonghe.

Afterward the Pontiff greeted a number of Italian and foreign personages.

CODE MESSAGE MISREAD.

Madrid, Spain, April 11.—The official Spanish news agency explains that its statement that the Pope was dead was due to an error in a message received from Rome at the papal nunciature. It is believed that the error occurred in the deciphering of a code message.

TAKEN WITH ALL RESERVE.

The report from Madrid of the death of the Pope came with startling suddenness, and was taken with all reserve until direct news to the contrary was received from Rome.

Nothing within the last few days has indicated that the Pope was in a critical condition, although his health has for some time been unsatisfactory. On March 25 he was compelled to suspend his audience for a few days, owing to a slight cough, accompanied by catarrh. On March 27 he was sufficiently improved to resume his audiences.

WHERE ROOSEVELT ON THE RECIPROCITY QUESTION

soon have closer reciprocal tariff and trade relations with the great nation to the north of us. (Applause.) And I feel so pleased, primarily because I wish to see the two people, the Canadian and the American people drawn together by the closest tie on a footing of complete equality of interest and mutual respect. (Applause.) I feel that it should be one of the cardinal policies of this Republic to establish the very closest relations of good will and friendship with the Dominion of Canada. (Applause.)

As further proof that he was warmly and enthusiastically in favor of reciprocity, the following extract from a speech which Col Roosevelt delivered before the Republican club of New York abundantly shows:

"I want to say how glad I am in the way in which the members of the club here tonight responded to the two appeals made to them to uphold the hands of President Taft, both in his effort to secure reciprocity with Canada and in his effort to secure the fortification of the Panama Canal."

"And in addition to what has been said about reciprocity with Canada I would like to make this point: It should always be a cardinal point in our foreign policy to establish the closest and most friendly relations of equal respect and advantage with our great neighbor on the north. And I had the reciprocal arrangement because it represents an effort to bring about a closer, a more intimate, a more friendly relationship of mutual advantage on equal terms between Canada and the United States."

Of course Mr. Piper has not forgotten that the legislature of 1911, of which he was a prominent member, endorsed the Treaty of Reciprocity, and the action of the legislature was officially communicated to the New Hampshire delegation in Washington for our instruction and guidance. For we repudiated it, and worked and voted against the Treaty. It is rather remarkable that the resolution passed the New Hampshire Legislature without the yeas and nays being called, while under the rules of that body any one member demand a

TOO MUCH STARCH

A Food Problem. An Asheville man tells how right food did that which medicines had failed to accomplish:

"For more than 15 years," he says, "I was afflicted with stomach trouble and intestinal indigestion, gas-forming in stomach and bowels and giving me great distress. These conditions were undoubtedly due to the starchy food I ate, white bread, potatoes, etc., and didn't digest. I grew worse with time, till 2 years ago, I had an attack which the doctor diagnosed as a peptic ulcer. When the surgeon operated on me, however, it was found that my trouble was ulcer of the pancreas, instead of peptic ulcer."

"Since that time I have had several such attacks, suffering greatly. The last attack was about 3 months ago, and I endured untold agonies. The doctor then said that I would have to eat less starchy stuff, so I began the use of Grape-Nuts food for I knew it to be pre-digested, and have continued same with most gratifying results. It has built me up wonderfully. I gained 10 pounds in the first 8 weeks that I used Grape-Nuts; my general health is better than ever before, my brain is clearer and my nerves stronger."

"For breakfast and dinner, each I take 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with cream, a small slice of dry toast, an egg soft boiled and a cup of Postum; and I make the evening meal on Grape-Nuts and cream alone. This gives me a good night's rest. I am well again." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in 10 pages.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Appeal to National Pride. The Italian wrestler Brugglio was proceeding cautiously, says a writer in the Chicago Evening Post. He was telling his opponent out, stalling him off with various pokes and not showing that daring in attack that the crowd likes. Most of them were silent, but one adviser, seated far away, kept yelling to him to "take a chance." As this seemed to make no impression with repetition, he shouted finally: "Take a chance, you wop lobster. Columbus took a chance."

The April term of the Superior court comes in at Exeter, on Tuesday of next week. Judge Pike will preside.

MINERS' WELFARE CAUSE OF TAFT

Bureau of Mines Marks Great Step Forward.

SAVES HUNDREDS OF LIVES.

Discovery of Danger of Coal Dust Important—Handling of Explosives Made Safer—Government's Experimental Coal Mine.

The saving of many lives annually—the lives of miners throughout the United States—will be one of the splendid results that will follow the establishment of the bureau of mines, one of the great achievements in the interest of labor of the administration of President Taft.

The excessive and unnecessary loss of life in the mines of this country was one of the primary causes for the creation of this bureau. For years hundreds of miners were killed in mine disasters, and practically nothing was done to check the terrible loss of life. Spurred on by President Taft, an act creating the bureau of mines was passed by congress and became effective on July 1, 1910. John A. Holmes of the United States geological survey was appointed as the first director. Mr. Holmes was reputed and certified to be the best trained man for the place obtainable in the United States. The chief experimental station was established at Pittsburgh, where the investigations of the problems intrusted to the bureau have been prosecuted so successfully for nearly two years.

In the year 1907, the most disastrous of all years in the American coal mines, 3,125 miners lost their lives. This represented 4.8% of men killed for every 1,000 employed. In coal mines in Europe less than two miners are killed out of every 1,000 employed. As a result of the work conducted by the bureau of mines and the wise use of an appropriation of $150,000 made by congress, the death rate has been already reduced to practically one-half what it was in 1907.

One of the notable achievements of the bureau of mines was the demonstration of the fact that coal dust in a bituminous mine is more dangerous and deadly than gas. It had been the belief heretofore that gas or fire was the greatest menace to the miners, and little attention was given to the accumulation of coal dust. The bureau of mines proved to the satisfaction of the miners as well as operators that coal dust would explode and, unlike fire, carried no warning with it. The keeping of dusty mines wet, as recommended by the bureau of mines, was found to reduce materially the chances of explosion of coal dust.

The number of deaths in the mines has been greatly reduced as a result of the testing of explosives under the direction of the bureau of mines. In the year 1908 the coal mines in the United States used 2,000,000 pounds of shot flame explosives, and at present nearly seven times that quantity is being used with greater safety, due to the co-operation of the coal operators and the bureau of mines.

The establishment of an experimental coal mine at Brucetown, Pa., twelve miles from Pittsburgh, is still another notable achievement of the bureau of mines. It places the United States in advance of other nations with respect to this research and experimental work in mines. Numerous tests are made at this experimental mine, from which many excellent results are obtained.

Still another important work which is conducted under the auspices of the bureau of mines is the rescue of entombed miners. Since the creation of the bureau many hundreds of lives have been saved. At the big mining disaster in Ohio one of the rescue corps of the bureau of mines arrived at the scene thirty-two hours after the disaster. Three men were rescued who had been given up as dead and allowed to remain in the mine. At another time one man was found alive among 150 dead, and today he is the sole survivor of that terrible catastrophe due to the splendid work of the rescue corps.

Before the bureau of mines was made possible by the interest of President Taft, which was followed by the necessary legislation for its establishment, there was no organized effort in saving the lives of entombed miners. Time and again men have sacrificed their lives in vain attempts to rescue their companions. This unnecessary sacrifice of life has been stopped by the co-operation of the state authorities with the federal rescuers attached to the bureau of mines. An investigation of the fuel resources of the United States is also being made with a view of checking the waste and increasing the efficiency with which fuel is used. This latter phase of the work is a part of the practical conservation policy of the Taft administration.

Dr. Wiley Supports Taft.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who recently resigned as chief chemist of the department of agriculture, when in Cincinnati several days ago made the following statement:

"President Taft is the one man who stood between me and destruction at Washington. When efforts were being made to 'assassinate' me Taft proved my only protector. He stood by me, and I am grateful to him. I hope he will be re-elected president."
